Dear Mr. Casey:

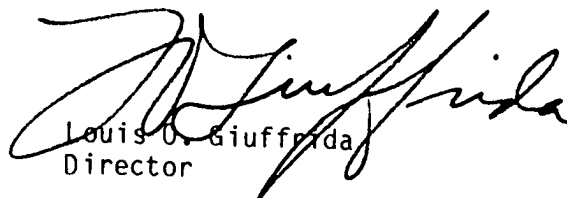

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), in conjunction with the Department of Defense, will sponsor two major readiness exercises in Fiscal Year 1986. Your Agency is invited to participate actively in the planning and conduct of both of these exercises. The first, Exercise REX-86 ALPHA/PORT CALL 86, will be a mobilization exercise in the late fall of 1985. The second, Exercise REX-86 BRAVO/PRESENT ARMS 86, will be a nuclear attack exercise in the late spring of 1986. The success of these exercises will depend on your personal support. With the proper planning and participation, they will constitute a significant contribution to the Federal program to support national security through preparedness.

While planning has just begun, it is already apparent that the scope and magnitude of both exercises will exceed those of previous exercises in these areas. In combination, they will provide significant insight into critical issues during conventional and nuclear crisis situations.

I intend to include all FEMA regions, as well as selected States from each region, as participants in each exercise. I also suggest that your agency consider having appropriate field elements participate. This will allow the Federal civil community at national and regional levels to work together as a team to address key issues critical to national preparedness.

Please designate a project officer for each exercise to work with my staff in their planning and development. The FEMA point of contact for both exercises is Mr. Donald F. Benedict (telephone number 287-0770).

Sincerely,

Louis O. Giuffrida
Director
